HEALTH WHERE 'TIS SOUGHT.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

Cure of a disordered Liver and Stomach, when in a most hopeless state.
Extract of a Letter from Mr. Matthew Harvey, of Chapel Hall, Airdrie, Scotland, dated the 15th of January, 1850.
To Professor Holloway.
Sir—Your valuable Pills have been the means, with God's blessing, of restoring me to a state of perfect health, and at a time when I thought I was on the brink of the grave. I had consulted several eminent doctors, who, after doing what they could for me, stated that they considered my case as hopeless. I ought to say that I had been suffering from a liver and stomach complaint of long standing, which during the last two years got so much worse, that every one considered my condition as hopeless. I as a last resource got a box of your Pills, which soon gave relief, and by persevering in their use for some weeks, together with rubbing night and morning your Ointment over my chest and stomach, and right side, I have by their means alone got completely cured, and to the astonishment of myself and everybody who knows me.
(Signed) MATTHEW HARVEY.

Cure of a case of Weakness and Debility, of four years' standing.
Extract of a Letter from Mr. William Smith, of No 5, Little Thomas-street, Gibson-street, Lambeth, dated December 12, 1849.
To Professor Holloway.
SIR,—I beg to inform you that for nearly five years I hardly knew what it was to have a day's health, suffering from extreme weakness and debility, with constant nervous headaches, giddiness, and sickness of the stomach, together with a great depression of spirits. I used to think that nothing could benefit me, as I had been to many medical men, some of whom, after doing all that was in their power, informed me that they considered that I had some spinal complaint beyond the reach of cure, together with a very disordered state of the stomach and liver, making my case so complicated that nothing could be done for me. One day, being unusually ill and in a dejected state, I saw your Pills advertised, and resolved to give them a trial, more perhaps from curiosity than with a hope of being cured; however I soon found myself better by taking them, and so I went on persevering in their use for six months, when I am happy to say they effected a perfect cure.
(Signed) WILLIAM SMITH.
(frequently called EDWARD.)

Cure of a case of great debility, where the constitution was fast breaking up.
Extract of a letter from Mr. E. Mester, Editor of the Star der Hoop Newspaper, dated Nymegen, Holland, the 26th January, 1849.
Professor Holloway,
SIR,—It is with great satisfaction that I have to acquaint you that Mr. Reintjees Van Veersen, a Merchant residing here, had been suffering for years from general debility and prostration of strength, so much so, that he was quite incapable of attending to any kind of business; his constitution appeared to be rapidly breaking up, notwithstanding the efforts of the cleverest medical men. Your Pills being in great vogue here, he was indeed to try them, which soon did him so much good that he persevered in their use for some weeks, and is now perfectly cured, and in gratitude for so great a blessing, he desires that publicity may be given to his case, that others may be induced to seek relief from the use of your P

DR. SCORESBY ON THE WAVES OF THE ATLANTIC.—One of the most interesting papers in section A, at the late British Association meeting, was that of the Rev. Dr. Scoresby, "On Atlantic waves, their magnitude, velocity, and phenomena." The observations were made on board the Cambria, steamer, on her passage from Liverpool to New York, in March, 1848, in lat. 51 deg. N.; long. 33 deg. 50m. W.; wind, W.S.W. Most of the waves were above 24 feet, and at least one-half were up to the level of 30 feet above the trough of the sea. After it had blown hard for 36 hours, and after the storm had subsided a little, he still saw ten waves more than 26 feet above the trough. He also noted the periods taken by the waves in overtaking the ship, having reckoned twenty waves to have passed in five minutes and a-half. The average of several was sixteen and a-half seconds. He also found that the time of a regular wave passing from stem to stern of the ship (which was 220 feet long) was six seconds. The height of the highest crest was 45 feet from the trough, and the distance of two crests (that is, the length of the wave) was 660 feet. The velocity was 32.67 miles per hour.—Bell's Messenger, August 19.

SUPREME COURT.—MONDAY.

SITTINGS IN BANCO.
BEFORE their Honors the three JUDGES.

NEW MAGISTRATE.

William Charles F. Scott, Esq., one of the Provincial Inspectors of Police, was sworn in as a magistrate of the territory.

LAWSON v. WESTON.

The arguments of counsel upon the new trial motion in this case were resumed and concluded.

The action was for trespass, and the pleas were first, not guilty, and secondly a dedication by plaintiff to the public of a right of way over the land whereon the alleged trespass had taken place. The case had been tried before Mr. Justice Dickinson, and a verdict on the second and material issue returned for defendant. A new trial was now moved for, upon the ground that this verdict was against both law and evidence.

The SOLICITOR-GENERAL and Mr. BROADHURST in support of the motion, maintained that this direction of the learned Judge who tried the case was an enunciation of the correct legal principles applicable to this case. His Honor was of opinion that there must be specific evidence of dedication to the public to sustain the plea. No amount of usurpation would be sufficient to prove this, as evidence of that kind would only tend to show that plaintiff had slept on his rights, and he would not by so doing have forfeited those rights. The evidence it was contended had given no proof of an express dedication. The proofs of user were coupled with proof of certain rebutting acts which tended to show that the user had been wholly permissive, and not conceded as a matter of right. The permission had been merely extended to certain residents in the neighbourhood, and to others as a matter of convenience, but without any intention of abandoning the ownership. This was shown by the fact that this place had been fenced round, and that on one occasion a man had actually been sent back when about to avail himself of this alleged right of way.

Messrs. FOSTER and DARVALL, in support of the verdict, contended that the real question at issue was not so much whether there had been a positive and explicit dedication of this road to the public, as whether there was such evidence of user on the one hand, and of acquiescence on the other, as would raise a fair presumption of such dedication. And there was abundant evidence of this user to raise such a presumption. There was the evidence of about sixteen persons as to their having continually passed without objection, and there was evidence not only of vehicles passing but even of a funeral having passed along this road. A single interruption in the course of a series of years only served to show the existence of a real intention to leave the road open to public use, for in the absence of any such intention there would have been a more frequent interruption for the purpose of asserting a right of ownership. The setting up of a slip panel was not an interruption to the public, but a mere precaution to prevent the escape of plaintiff's cattle, which the public, as it did not interfere with their ingress and egress, had permitted.

A number of authorities were quoted upon both sides, many of which were conflicting in principle.

Sir ALFRED STEPHEN, C. J., was not prepared to say that the verdict was a mistaken one. Upon the whole, however, he was of opinion that a new trial ought to be granted on payment of costs. The question at issue was one of great importance as respected the whole colony, and of peculiarly great importance as respected the interests of this plaintiff and the owners of the adjacent lands. It ought not, therefore, to be decided hastily upon evidence in any way defective; it would consequently be inexpedient and unwise to decide such a question without again submitting it to the investigation of a Jury. As to the law of the case, his own opinion was that there must be an intention to dedicate. A man could not be said to give without meaning to give. But the intention to dedicate as well as the actual dedication might be shown by evidence of user. Uninterrupted user must raise such a presumption of an intention to dedicate a road to the public, as would justify them in assuming that there had been really such an intention. But it was not necessary for a Jury to assume that at some particular moment the person who was said to have dedicated the road to the public had conceived a distinct and express idea of making such a dedication. There were few if any cases in which any such an idea as this had entered the minds of the parties who were presumed by the operation of law to have conceded to the public a right of road. If a man permitted the public to use a particular piece of land as a road, to such an extent and for such a length of time as to create a belief that he meant to dedicate it to their service, he must be assumed to have contemplated and to have intended the natural effect of his own proceedings. If he meant to retain possession of his property he would naturally exercise at times certain acts of ownership, to show that the use of the land as a road must only be understood to be permissive.

Mr. Justice DICKINSON was of opinion that the direction in this case was perfectly correct, and that the evidence did not, according to that direction, sustain the verdict which had been returned. There might have been sufficient evidence of user to amount to proof of an intention to dedicate; but under the peculiar circumstances of the present case, this evidence would be equally consistent with a permissive user only. Where evidence went to represent two sets of facts, it proved neither, and it was desirable, therefore, that there should be a second investigation. As to the direction, the question in this case was dedication or no dedication; and no man could be held to dedicate without having intended to dedicate. The learned Judge quoted the authorities of Park B., Tindale C. J., Williams J., and Paterson J., to show that no other principles than those which had been laid down in this direction could be held to govern the present case.

Mr. Justice THERRY was also of opinion, for the reasons already assigned, that a new trial must be granted. But on whatever Judge the duty of trying the case a second time might fall, no other direction, he said, could be given than that of the learned Judge before whom the first trial took place.

A new trial was therefore ordered of the second issue. The case to be tried by a special Jury of twelve, and the defendant to be considered as having applied for this Jury.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE.

INSOLVENT COURT.

MONDAY

BEFORE W. H. KERR, Esq., Chief Commissioner of Insolvent Estates.

In the estate of Robert Bubb, a third meeting was held. Debts amounting to £102 10s. 2d. were proved; the official assignee handed in his report, which was read, and directions were given for the sale of insolvent's machinery, his equity of redemption in certain property, and the other assets, excepting his wearing apparel and household furniture.

In the estate of Robert Gillespie, a single meeting. No claims were proved.

In the estate of Robert Richardson, an adjourned single meeting was held. After a lengthy examination of the insolvent, the meeting was further adjourned until the 6th February.

MEETINGS THIS DAY.

In the estate of Joseph Armstrong, a third meeting, at half-past 10 o'clock.

In the estate of Samuel Terry Hughes, an adjourned second meeting at 11.

In the estate of Joseph Marchant, an adjourned second meeting, at half-past 11.

CITY COUNCIL.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 30.

PRESENT:—The Mayor; Aldermen Allen, Broughton, Thurlow, Fisher, Brown, and Egan; Councillors Ryan, Peden, Paton, Board, Thomas, Tierney, Little, Jenkins, Roberts, Peek, Lenehan, Moore, Moffitt, Driver, Williams, Weekes, and Macdonald.

The TOWN CLERK read the minutes of the former meeting.

The Council went into Committee on the Finance Minute.

SURVEYOR'S OFFICE.

The salary of the Clerk to the City Surveyor was increased from £100 to £125 a year, by the casting vote of the Mayor.

LAW EXPENSES.

On the motion for the salary of £300 for the City Solicitor considerable discussion took place as to the advisability of giving any salary, and ultimately, on the motion of Mr. JOSEPHSON, the sum was appropriated for the payment of the law expenses of the Corporation.

INSPECTOR OF SLAUGHTER-HOUSES.

The estimate for this office was £53, and the salary at present given was £150. Mr. THORNTON moved that the sum of £150 be appropriated as the salary of the Inspector.

Mr. F. Oatley, the Inspector of Slaughter-houses, was called in and examined at considerable length, and stated that his whole time was occupied by the duties of his office.

Mr. JOSEPHSON then moved as an amendment, that the salary be reduced to £120 per annum.

The amendment was carried.

INSPECTOR OF NUISANCES AND HACKNEY CARRIAGES.

This salary was estimated on the minutes at £150.

After Mr. Stubbs had been called in and examined, in which he stated that he received some small amount of fees, extra of his salary,

Mr. BROWN moved the salary be granted.

An amendment was moved by Alderman FISHER that the salary be £120.

Dr. TIERNEY moved as a further amendment that the offices be divided and that £100 be given to the Inspector of Nuisances, and £50 to the Inspector of Hackney Carriages. He thought the duties of the former office would be as onerous when the sanitary regulations were brought into operation, that they would fully occupy the time of one individual.

The original motion was carried by a majority of 18 to 5.

MARKETS.

Alderman BROWN moved that the salary of the Clerk of the Markets be £120.

Mr. FLOOD moved that the salary be reduced to £100, with a view of giving the Assistant Clerk the same sum.

After some trifling discussion the motion was carried.

£80 was voted for the salary of the Assistant Clerk, and £20 for the keep of a horse.

The sum of £250 was voted for repairs to the George-street Markets.

The following items were also agreed to:—Salary of office-keeper, £75; salary of messenger, £75; printing, £300; advertising in newspapers, £75; stationery, £100; rent, £100; expenses of elections, &c., £100; fuel and light, £10.

IMPROVEMENT COMMITTEE.

Alderman BROWN moved the sum of £10,000 for improvements in the city, to be spent under the direction of the Improvement Committee.

Alderman FISHER moved that the sum be reduced to £8000.

Dr. TIERNEY moved as an amendment that £8000 be spent by the Improvement Committee, and £2000 by the Sanitary Committee about to be appointed.

Mr. LENEHAN seconded the amendment.

Mr. JOSEPHSON thought both sums proposed were too high, considering the state of poverty in which the city was placed; he therefore moved as a further amendment that £7000 be appropriated to this purpose.

Mr. WEEKES thought they ought to appropriate some sum for carrying out the sanitary clauses of the Act. It was only by doing this they could give the poor man a fair share in the improvements effected by taxation.

Alderman THURLOW moved as a further amendment that £7000 be raised by rate and £3000 by debenture for works of public improvement, including those sanitary works which had been alluded to.

The amendment of Mr. JOSEPHSON for £7000, to be raised by rates, was carried.

WATER WORKS.

The salary of the Superintendent of Water Works (£120) was passed.

The salary of the Watchman at Lachlan Swamp (£60) was passed.

The Council then resumed its sittings, and the adoption of the report having been moved,

Alderman EGAN moved, that the item of £300 for law expenses, be altered to £300 for the salary of the City Solicitor.

Alderman FISHER moved, that the report be adopted, with the alteration that the salary of the Inspector of Slaughter-houses be increased from £120 to £150, and that £2000 be added to the report, to be raised by debentures for sanitary purposes. Other separate amendments for raising £2000, and raising the salary of the Inspector of Slaughter-houses, were moved.

Mr. THURLOW, in consequence of the indisposition of the Mayor, moved an adjournment till 12 o'clock this day, which was lost by a majority of 10 to 9.

The whole of the amendments were negatived, and the report was adopted.

The Council adjourned till 12 o'clock this day.

THE ANTI-TRANSPORTATION MOVEMENT.

THE following petition, signed by the Bishop of Tasmania, the Archdeacons of Hobart Town and Launceston, and thirty-three other clergymen has been transmitted to Her Majesty the Queen:—

To Her Most Gracious Majesty, Victoria, by the grace of God, Queen, &c., &c.

The humble petition of the undersigned, the Bishop, Archdeacons, and Clergymen of the United Church of England and Ireland in Tasmania, Respectfully sheweth,—That the appalling evils resulting from transportation to this island, as respects its moral and social condition, have, during several years past, been strenuously urged upon the Imperial Parliament, in a series of petitions from the colonists, including ministers of religion of all denominations, addressed to your Majesty and both Houses of Parliament, praying for its immediate and total abolition.

That they have learned with deep regret, that a despatch has been received from the Right Honorable the Secretary of State, announcing the intention of the Government to resume transportation to this island, and to make it a permanent penal colony.

That this announcement has been received with grief and alarm by a very large proportion of all classes of the community, and if criminals continue to be transported to this colony, your Majesty's petitioners, as ministers of peace, cannot but tremble at the permanent establishment of a spirit of exasperation and of most unhappy division pervading the entire social system; seriously impeding the efforts of your Majesty's petitioners to promote the extension and continuance of Christian peace and love, according to their appointed duty.

That for these reasons, as well as on account of the moral and social evils inherent in the very establishment of a penal colony, and of the degradation attached to it in the opinion of mankind at large, and of the injury thus sustained in point of character and reputation by the settlers in every such colony, your Majesty's petitioners are firmly convinced that, even supposing a lucrative return to be derived from convict labour, that advantage would be beyond calculation outweighed by the frightful evils which the convict system introduces and implants wherever the employment of such labour is admitted.

Your Majesty's petitioners also respectfully submit, that whatever might be the extent of the evils arising from a penal establishment in a community unanimously favourable to its continuance, there can be no doubt that those evils would be most formidably aggravated in a colony, where the majority of all classes are opposed to its resumption, and your Majesty's petitioners hesitate not to declare their conviction, that convicts can no longer be introduced into this colony with real advantage to themselves, or to the community into which they are introduced.

Your Majesty's petitioners therefore, being moved by these considerations, the serious nature of which cannot fail to force itself upon the notice of your Majesty, would, on their own behalf, and on the behalf of those for whom they are placed in charge, earnestly pray that your Majesty will be pleased, by and with the advice of your Majesty's Privy Council, to rescind the order by which the colony of Van Diemen's Land is declared to be a place to which criminals may be transported.

And your Majesty's petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.

MASONIC DINNER.

ON the evening of Friday last, St. John's Day, about a hundred of the Masonic body dined together at Mr. Clarke's Rooms, Elizabeth-street. The Brethren, however, had not so much in view on this occasion their ordinary celebration of the festival of St. John, as the bestowal of a mark of respect upon their provincial grand Chaplain, the Rev. C. Woodward, on his departure from the colony.

The room, which from its large size and perfect ventilation, is well fitted for entertainments of this description, was tastefully decorated with evergreens, and upon the walls were suspended portraits of the provincial Grand Master and the provincial Grand Chaplain. The chairs used by the officers presiding at this festival were those used in lodge, and were fine specimens of workmanship. In the gallery was stationed the band of the 11th Regiment, and it is needless to say that they performed their duties well.

The office of President was filled by the provincial Grand Master, Captain Innis, and other senior officers of the province presided in the south, the west, and the north. The company was highly respectable. All the learned professions were largely represented, and there was a strong sprinkling of merchants among the various other classes of which the assemblage was composed. The Masters sat at the upper table, in the vicinity of the P.G.M. In the same position of honour were seated the guest of the evening, the Rev. Mr. Woodward, and Sir Osborne Gibbs, Bart., D.P.S.W. of Weymouth, also a visitor. Beside the latter sat Dr. Bland.

The dinner itself was a very excellent one, and the company appeared to think it so, for ample justice was done to it. The stewards and the purveyor had done their duty well.

The customary loyal toasts—the Queen, Prince Albert, and the Royal Family—were given by the P.G.M. with a good terse speech to each, in which the loyalty of feeling inculcated by masonic principles was maintained. "The three Grand Lodges" was also proposed by the same officer. This and other masonic toasts were drunk with the honours of the craft.

The next toast was the health of the Provincial Grand Chaplain. This was the toast of the evening. Dr. BLAND in proposing it, expressed in strong terms the pleasure which he felt in being selected not only to propose the health of their dear and reverend brother, Charles Woodward, but to present that gentleman with an address and testimonial in the name of the craft, as a mark of their affection and esteem. A long course of usefulness and a strict adherence to the broad principles of rectitude under trials of the most painful nature had, he said, well earned for their reverend brother their esteem and good wishes, which would follow him to his native land. The address and testimonial were then presented. The address was in the following terms:—

To the Rev. Charles Woodward, B.C.L., late Provincial Grand Chaplain of Freemasons in New South Wales, under the constitution of the United Grand Lodge of England, Worshipful Master of the Sydney Samaritan Lodge, &c., &c., &c.

Reverend and Dear Sir and Brother,—On the eve of your departure from this colony to return to the mother country, it well consists with our principles of brotherly love as members of the Ancient Fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons, to record our esteem and affection towards you for your uniform zeal and fidelity in the cause of our Order.

More especially should we fail in our duty were we not to offer you our sincere and fraternal sympathy on account of the peculiar circumstances of trial and discouragement which have compelled your decision; and while we carefully abstain from commenting on those circumstances, we cannot refrain from expressing our regret that they should have interrupted the course of usefulness so worthily pursued by you for the period of more than eleven years.

In testimony and as a substantial proof of the respect and fraternal regard which the Masonic Body in New South Wales entertain towards you, we beg, in their name and as their united contribution, your acceptance of this purse and its contents, and in bidding you farewell, we earnestly pray that the Great Architect of the Universe, whom we all acknowledge and adore, may have you and your family in His holy keeping, enabling you to overcome all your difficulties and making all your paths peace.

Signed, on behalf of the brethren,
W. M. Leinster Marine Lodge of Australia, No. 266.
Lodge of Australia, No. 548.
Australian Lodge of Fidelity, No. 267.
Australian Lodge of Harmony, No. 814.
Sydney Samaritan Lodge.

The purse was a very handsome one, containing one hundred guineas, and was presented upon a silver salver.

That health of the reverend gentleman having been drunk with enthusiasm, and with high Masonic honours, he proceeded to acknowledge the testimonial and the toast, in a speech of considerable length and of much feeling. While appealing to his conduct for the last eleven years, as an evidence of the principles by which he had all along been guided, he denied that he had done anything more than his duty as a man and a Christian. This testimonial of their approbation, however, was peculiarly grateful to his feelings, and he should not only treasure up their address as a most precious document to the last hour of his existence, but should hand it down as an heir-loom to his posterity. His son, who was now at an age to appreciate its value, and whom he hoped soon to see received into the bosom of masonry, would see in this document an additional incentive to virtue—an additional encouragement to struggle onward in the paths of honour and rectitude, with a full confidence in the great Architect of the Universe as to the result. That men should pass through life without trial was not to be expected. His own troubles had been severe, and grievous to bear; but he trusted in the Divine Master, and in this trust he felt himself secure. He had been asked by many why it was he was about to leave them? It was not until he was wholly unable to avoid this step, without completely abandoning his profession, and sacrificing the interests of his family, that he had determined upon it. From a sense of what was due to his sacred calling, he had, amidst all the persecution to which he had been subjected, abstained from entering into any newspaper controversy, or from thrusting himself forward in any way. The reverend gentleman pronounced a warm eulogium upon the masonic body of the colony, not only as regarded the respectability of its members, but as to their earnestness in the cause of charity, and the warmth of their brotherly unity. These feelings he dwelt upon as having been strongly exemplified towards himself; and he concluded by assuring them of his lasting affection and esteem, and of his prayers for their welfare. (He was warmly cheered by the brethren throughout the whole of his address.

Our space will not permit us to give any thing like a report of the proceedings. Many other excellent speeches were given throughout the evening, but to none of them can we give more than a passing notice. The "Craft in the colony" was proposed by W. M. Gribben, and responded to by the P.G.M. "The Officers of the respective lodges" was proposed by D.P.G.M. Willi-ms, and responded to by W. M. Elliott. "Our visiting Brethren" was proposed by W. M. Grocott, and responded to by Sir Osborne Gibbs. "Brother (Dr.) Bland," was proposed by the P.G.M., and responded to by Dr. Bland himself. "All the fraternity round the globe" was proposed by P.G.S.W. (Dr.) Aaron. "The Governor" was proposed by the P.G.M. "The land we live in" was proposed by W. M. Elliott. "Prosperity to the pastoral, agricultural, and manufacturing interests of the colony" was proposed by W. M. Buttrey. "The Ladies" was proposed by Brother Purefoy, and thanks returned for the fair sex by Brother Smyth. "Colonel Bloomfield and the Officers of the 11th" was proposed by the P.G.M. "The Stewards" was proposed by the D.P.G.M., and responded to by W. M. Grocott.

A very excellent speech was made by Sir Osborne Gibbs in returning thanks on behalf of the visiting brethren. He bore strong testimony to the brotherly feeling of the Sydney masons, remarking that although a perfect stranger among them, he had proceeded at once to where the brethren were assembled, and he found himself instantly at home. Dr. Aaron also made the very comprehensive toast with which he was entrusted the groundwork of a very eloquent though brief essay upon the unity and kindliness of feeling amongst the widely scattered masonic brotherhood. All the speeches of the P.G.M. were short, but to the purpose: just the quality to be studied in all after-dinner oratory. The health of Dr. Bland in particular was drunk with great enthusiasm.

The company did not separate until some time after the first of the "sma' hours" had been tolled out from the town clock, and repeated from street to street by the guardians of the night.

THE LATE BOAT ACCIDENT.—A party of gentlemen, consisting of the Mayor, Alderman Egan, the Attorney-General, Captain Plunkett, Messrs. Richard and Edward Hill, Moffitt, and P. Long, on Sunday last went out with a small steamer and a boat, and made a strict search of the coasts of Mossman's Bay, the Middle and North Harbours, the Quarantine Ground, North Head, and along the coast to Spring Cove, exploring as they proceeded for some distance inland, if possible to discover the bodies of the ill-fated young men who were lost on the preceding Sunday. We regret to say that they had their toil for their pains—not the slightest vestige was anywhere to be seen. The last time that the boat was seen, until found keel uppermost, was between four and five o'clock in the afternoon, when about half-way across Watson's Bay. A person having reported that he had seen a straw hat at Cudgee, and the upper part of a shirt at Bondi, he was sent out yesterday to fetch them, in order to see if they bear any marks by which to ascertain who may have been the owners.

CORONER'S INQUESTS.—On Friday evening last, a woman named Amelia Stubbs was taken into custody by Inspector Connor on suspicion of having caused the death of her infant, Mary Ann Amelia Stubbs, of about five months old. On Saturday and (by adjournment) yesterday, an inquest was held on the body at Benjamin's public-house, Kent-street. Charles Brine deposed, that he lodged with the parents of the deceased; a boy nursed deceased during the forenoon and until about half past 12 on Friday, when the prisoner, who was quite sober, took the child, on returning home, about six o'clock, he saw the child lying dead on a sofa, and immediately afterwards the prisoner rushed in and endeavoured to get hold of the body, from which she was prevented by several neighbours then in the house; she appeared at that time not much intoxicated, but quite mad. Mary Lever deposed that she saw deceased on Friday morning, and nursed it for the prisoner; the child then appeared to be quite well, but it had always been a delicate child; saw prisoner about three o'clock in the afternoon, upstairs crying; she seemed stupid, and said that she and her husband were not on good terms; could not say if intoxication was the cause of her stupid appearance; she got into bed, took the child, and gave it the breast; about an hour and a-half afterwards went in again to see the prisoner; found her still in bed, and deceased lying by her side, without any bedclothes over it; on taking it up found that it was dead; considered the prisoner was a kind mother, so far as she had had an opportunity of seeing. Sarah Harris saw prisoner sitting at the step of her door, in a state of intoxication, at about a quarter past two o'clock, on Friday afternoon. Between four and five o'clock was at prisoner's house, the infant was then dead, and prisoner came down stairs, snatched the body from the person who held it, and it was taken from her by force; she did not appear to be sensible that her child was dead,—in fact, she appeared to be insane; witness does not know that the head of deceased received any blow after death. Frederick Flower deposed that prisoner was sober on Friday forenoon, but not in the afternoon; about twenty minutes past four he heard the child, who was upstairs with her mother, crying, and soon after Mrs. Lever going upstairs; shortly after five o'clock, heard the shouting that the child was dead. There were other witnesses, whose evidence, however, does not throw much light on the manner of death. Dr. Mackellar deposed that he was called in by inspector Connor to see the deceased child. There were no marks of violence on the body, nor any appearance of disease; the mother of the child was lying on a sofa in an adjoining room, but in such a state of intoxication that she could give no account of the sudden death of her infant; he had since made a post mortem examination of the body. Having described the post mortem appearances, Dr. Mackellar deposed—"It is my opinion that the child died from external injuries and violence, part of which must have accrued some hours previous to death; the state of the lungs and heart indicated suffocation, but independent of these appearances, the effusion on the brain and fracture of the skull would have terminated fatally. I have no doubt that the child's death was caused partly by the injuries to the head, and partly by suffocation—the latter of which was the direct or immediate cause, when the child had become weak and insensible from the injuries done to the head." Verdict, accidental suffocation.—An inquest was held at the Benevolent Asylum, on the body of John Wragg, aged twenty-four, who was accidentally drowned between ten and eleven o'clock on Saturday night, while attempting to cross Lord's Dam in a couple of glue coolers, which at about 150 yards from the starting place capsized; a man named Ball clung to the vessels, which floated across with him; the deceased swam away, and lost his life. Verdict, accidentally drowned.—An inquest was held at Doyle's, St. Andrew's Inn, Kent-street, on view of the body of Mary Simpson, who died on Sunday morning. She had been complaining of pain in her side and stomach for some two or three weeks, and for which she applied a blister and took pills. About five o'clock on Sunday morning the person with whom she lodged saw that she was dying, and sent for the clergyman of the parish, who immediately attended, and who on leaving her desired Mr. Surgeon Rutter to see her. Mr. Rutter attended accordingly, but in less than half an hour afterwards she ceased to exist. His opinion was that death resulted from chronic inflammation of the lower lobe of the right lung, accelerated by the absence of medical treatment. Verdict, died from natural causes.

CAUTION TO YOUNGSTERS.—A lad named Bowman was yesterday brought before Mr. Dowling, by constable Lucas, charged with having, while searching for locusts, broken one of the oak trees in the outer Government Domain. His Worship ordered him to find sureties to be of good behaviour, or in default to be imprisoned for seven days.

STRAY CATTLE, GOATS, &c.—Six persons were yesterday convicted of breaches of the Sydney Police Act, by suffering cows, goats, &c., their property, to be at large and stray about Hyde Park and the streets adjacent. They were sentenced in a penalty of 5s. for each head, with 5s. costs in each case.

ERRATA.—In Mr. Macarthur's letter, published in the Herald of December 21, for Aidstory Creek, read Aidelong Creek; for Canning, read Curiong; for Beggar Beggar read Beggin Beggin; for both to and from the town of Murrumbidgee this season, read the Lower Murrumbidgee; for John M'Arthur, Jun., read James M'Arthur.

"THE EMPIRE."—The first number of a weekly paper called The Empire was published on Saturday. It professes to be "Radical" and promises to act up to its profession. Believing as we do that the condition of the colony will not afford scope for what is known in England as "radicalism," we expect our new contemporary will not find a very extended field for his operations. The franchise was almost the only question about which anything "Radical" could be said, and that has been settled for us in England at so low a rate that no one can can object to it as being too high. There can, in this colony, be nothing less than a £10 qualification, unless we have universal suffrage. We shall be glad to find that the writers in the Empire continue in the same spirit that they have exhibited in their first number, for if we cannot admit the correctness of their principles we are glad to be at liberty to admire the tone and spirit of their arguments.

STEALING MONEY.—Catherine Dignum, of Market-street, was yesterday committed to take her trial for stealing from the person of Sarah Jones, of Parramatta, the sum of £25 in bank notes, the particulars of which appeared in yesterday's Herald.

JACKEY JACKEY.—His Excellency the Governor has caused to be prepared a highly ornamented silver breast-plate, for presentation to Jackey Jackey, the aboriginal native who accompanied the late lamented Mr. Assistant Surveyor Kennedy, on his expedition to Cape York. The plate was made by Messrs. Brush and Meedonnell, of George-street, Sydney, and is highly creditable as a piece of colonial manufacture. The following is a copy of the inscription:—

PRESENTED by
His Excellency SIR CHARLES AUGUSTUS FITZ ROY, K.H., Governor of New South Wales, to JACKEY JACKEY,
an Aboriginal Native of that Colony, in testimony of the fidelity with which he followed the late Assistant-Surveyor E. B. C. KENNEDY
throughout his exploration of York Peninsula, in the year 1848.
The noble daring with which he supported that lamented
Gentleman, when mortally wounded by the Natives of Escape River,
the courage with which, after having affectionately tended the last moments of his master, he made his way through hostile tribes and an unknown country, to Cape York;
and finally,
the unexampled sagacity
with which he conducted the succour that there awaited the Expedition, to the rescue of the other survivors of it, who had been left at Shelbourne Bay.

NEWS FROM THE INTERIOR.

(From our Correspondent.)

BOWENFELS.

AFTER several months of great drought, which has of late been followed up with unusual heat and dryness, we have had some very heavy and refreshing showers, which were generally accompanied with loud and terrific peals of thunder. The effects of the drought have been in various places most severely felt, causing a considerable advance both in the price of wheat and flour; of the former, however, there is not much in our district, and of the latter just as much perhaps as to keep our mouths going; and present appearances are indicative of the growing crop being anything but a heavy one. In some of our neighbouring districts, towards Bathurst and Macquarie Plains, a good many of the farmers were under the painful necessity of cutting down their wheat crop for hay, of which commodity in like manner the crops are generally extremely light. The wheat harvest here has just commenced, and we are glad to say, that notwithstanding the lightness of the crop, the grain is good and free from rust and smut.

HAYWARD ATKINS, Esq.—We

twenty three miles make just thirty-nine miles; the exact distance by the Razorback road! Where is the saving? Will Bushman, or the "Sir Proteus" who drew up the memorial be pleased to inform us. But I have not done. The present road from Liverpool to Campbelltown, although not judiciously laid out, inasmuch as several steep hills might have been avoided, is not susceptible of being materially shortened; whilst that from Campbelltown to Appin is unobjectionable as to its general direction. There are no means, therefore, by which the present distance from Liverpool to Appin by Campbelltown can be materially lessened. Not so, however, the road from Liverpool by the Cowpasture Bridge. It is a disgrace to all those persons whose especial duty it has been, during the last twenty-five years, to lay out and direct the public roads of the colony. With more traffic upon it by far than any other high road, it has during that whole period been the most neglected, and its general course is so absurdly tortuous and misdirected, that those who use it may well desire to see its direction altered and improved. By this road, crooked as it is, the distance from Liverpool to the Cowpasture Bridge is seventeen and a half miles; from thence by Sir Thomas Mitchell's map to Lupton's inn, as the crow flies (we have as much right to fly with the crow in one case as the other), it is nineteen more, making just thirty-six and a-half miles. Now, if you add to the twenty-three miles by the other road from Liverpool to Appin, the crow's flight line from the same place to Lupton's, if fourteen miles, you have just thirty-seven miles. Why, the Cowpasture Bridge line, with all its imperfections, is absolutely the shorter line of the two! Gentle public, for the present I have, perhaps, said enough to warn you against that crafty fox, Sir "Bushman," who, for his own ends doubtless, would (pardon the simile) make you the simple unsuspecting goose.

Your faithful friend,
A SQUATTER OF THE SOUTH.

Yass, 26th December.

THE SOUTHERN ROAD.

The following memorial to the Governor, praying for the erection of a bridge over the cataract at Brough-Ben's Pass into East Bargo, so as to avoid the dreadful Razorback, was presented to His Excellency by a deputation previous to his departure for Moreton Bay. The memorial, as will be seen by the list of names subjoined, to which were added those of all the respectable graziers of the southern division of the country, was, perhaps, the most respectably signed of any that has been got up in our time in the colony. We regret to say that the answer is not very satisfactory, nor very consistent with strict truth, if we take into consideration certain other works of manifestly less public importance on which prison labour has been from time to time engaged; but, in the event of a renewal of transportation, which Sir George Gipps is understood to regard as certain, the answer of His Excellency is of course a pledge that he will comply with the request of the memorialists.

"To His Excellency Sir George Gipps, Governor in-Chief of New South Wales and its Dependencies, &c., &c., &c.

"The Memorial of the undersigned free inhabitants of the counties of Cumberland, Camden, Argyle, St. Vincent, and Murray,

Most respectfully sheweth—

"That the public road forming the line of communication between Sydney and the three last mentioned counties is very circuitous and difficult, while the obstacles opposed to the opening of a more direct road are limited in extent.

"That the portion of the line of the great South Road from Liverpool to Lupton's Inn, by way of the Cowpasture bridge and Razorback, is about thirty nine miles, and that the road by Razorback is naturally very arduous and difficult, both from the height and ruggedness of the mountain range, and the obstruction of water courses.

"That your memorialists are convinced that a much more direct line of road from Liverpool to Lupton's Inn is perfectly practicable, by adopting the route through Campbelltown to Illawarra, as far as Appin, and the formation of a new road from that township to Lupton's, a distance of only about eleven miles.

"That the opening of a new road in this direction would not only prove an absolute saving in the distance between Liverpool and Lupton's Inn of about eight miles, which of itself is of great consequence in so important a line of communication, but from the greater levelness and less broken surface of the country than on the Razorback road, an additional advantage would be gained of at least seven miles more, making together the important virtual saving of about fifteen miles from Campbelltown to Lupton's Inn.

"That among the numerous great advantages of bringing in effect the whole of the south and southwest districts of the colony so much nearer to the capital may be mentioned the great extent of valuable wheat lands in the districts of Mittagong, Bong Bong, and Sutton Forest, which would thereby be placed within the reach of the Sydney markets, and which would not only essentially benefit the supply of the capital, but impart a fresh and powerful stimulus to agricultural improvement in those and the adjoining districts.

"That the proposed line, passing through Airds and Appin, while it would prove highly beneficial to these populous districts, would at the same time open up a vast tract of government land still unlocated, which would be bought up with avidity, and prove a new source of revenue to the Government. This extensive tract of country, situate between the Nepean and Cataract Rivers, which is of great fertility and value, notwithstanding its vicinity to Sydney, is at present so difficult of access as to be almost without inhabitants.

"That the said line being indisputably the most level and direct, and there being fewer hills and watercourses than in any other direction, the natural advantages are so decided, that any establishment formed upon it would possess the assurance of permanency, a circumstance of great moment in promoting the improvement of a new country.

"That the chief and almost only obstacles to the great and important advantages of the proposed line consist in the works which would be required to effect the passage across the Nepean and Cataract rivers, but these obstacles, your memorialists have reason to conclude, are not by any means of such magnitude as those which have already been successfully surmounted at Mount Victoria on the western, and Wiseman's on the northern road; as from the best information the banks of the Nepean do not exceed 250, and of the Cataract river 120 feet, whereas Mount Victoria and the hill at Wiseman's both exceed 600 feet in height.

"That the construction of the necessary road and bridges across these rivers would be greatly facilitated by the circumstance of the strata on their banks being composed of sand stone, easily worked, and thus affording the means of obtaining, without the expensive conveyance, an excellent material on the very line of road, while the solid rock which embeds the channels of the rivers on the proposed line offers the most substantial foundation for the site of the requisite bridges, an advantage which cannot be commanded for a bridge over the Nepean at Camden, of the present road, where the bed of the river is composed of shifting sands.

"That your memorialists humbly trust that your Excellency will feel satisfied that considerations of impartiality, as respects the equitable distribution of public labour, as well as of public advantage, are equally in favour of the object your memorialists seek to obtain; the southern districts of the colony having a claim to the equal consideration in the distribution of labour with the northern, or any other districts.

"That not to dilate further on the numerous circumstances in favour of the proposed new line of road, your memorialists feel assured that, on a thorough examination, your Excellency will be of opinion that almost no public work could be undertaken in the colony which is more urgently required, or which holds out more certain prospects of extensive public utility and advantage; that which they are now solicitous to bring under your Excellency's notice, and which they are confident would, if successfully executed, form a signal and lasting memorial of your Excellency's impartial, wise, and energetic government.

"Your memorialists therefore humbly and earnestly submit that your Excellency would be pleased to take into consideration the expediency of improving the great line of communication with the southern districts of the colony, by the formation of a road from the township of Appin to Lupton's Inn, on the present South Road, and of commencing the works necessary to effect this object, and your memorialists, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

THE GOVERNOR'S REPLY.

"Colonial Secretary's Office,
"Sydney, 19th February, 1842.

"Sir,—I am directed by his Excellency the Governor to acknowledge the receipt of the memorial presented this day by yourself, Mr. Thomas Barker, and other gentlemen, praying for the formation of a road from the township of Appin to Lupton's Inn, on the present South Road; and in reply, I have the honour to state to you that his Excellency is quite aware of the great advantage to the whole of the southern parts of the colony which would accrue from the opening of the long projected road from Appin to Lupton's; and it is only the want of means to undertake the large works which would be required at the Cataract and Nepean Rivers, which prevents his Excellency's immediately undertaking it.

"I am at liberty to add, that should unexpected circumstances place a sufficient quantity of labour at his Excellency's disposal, he will not fail to attend to the wishes of the memorialists. I have the honour to be, sir, your most obedient servant,

"E. DEAS THOMSON.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

GENTLEMEN,—Can you inform me how often per day the Post Office authorities profess to deliver letters in the suburbs of the city? A letter addressed to the writer, at the Surry Hills, within a stone's throw of the Courthouse, was posted in town before eleven A.M. on Tuesday last, and actually reached its destination a little before one on the following day.

Yours, &c.,
X. Y. Z.

December 27.

[There is only one delivery per day in the suburbs, which generally occupies from nine to eleven A.M.; but when there are several English arrivals with heavy mails, the runners having a larger number of letters and papers than usual, occupy more time in going their rounds.—EDS.]

REV. DR LANG.—The intelligence to day of the organized movement got up by Dr. Lang, and of which some accounts had been previous received, for establishing the independence of the Australian colonies, has not been regarded as so important in its character as the Melbourne papers would seem to represent. The entire proceedings of Dr. Lang on the emigration question during his recent visit to this country are familiar to our Australian merchants through the Parliamentary papers on the subject, published about six months back, and which were of a description to preclude the idea that he was likely to obtain in such future objects as he might contemplate any extensive support from his fellow colonists. It appeared from these documents that his purpose in London was to obtain a bounty of £18 per head for all such emigrants as he might send to Moreton Bay with the view of promoting the cultivation of cotton. His reason for urging this grant was that a similar one had been made in favour of a certain number of foreign immigrants who had been imported for the purpose of giving instruction in the art of cultivating the vine and other peculiar products, but it was pointed out to him that there was not the slightest analogy between the two cases, and that as the emigrants he proposed to despatch were of the ordinary kind, whose passage is effected at a cost of about £14, his request simply was that Government should put £4 per head into his own pocket for every person whom he might induce to leave. Subsequently he tried in the same way to obtain grants of land, and although in each case the information was reiterated to him that his propositions were altogether inadmissible, he despatched the ship Fortitude with 270 emigrants, with the assurance to them that they would on arrival have a free grant of land equal to the amount they had paid for their passage-money; while at the same time he wrote to Governor Fitz Roy intimating that he had obtained the co-operation of the Government, and requesting in consequence the various advantages for which he had been negotiating here, but to which he was wholly unentitled. On the arrival of the vessel at Moreton Bay it was found that sickness had prevailed on board to a most fatal extent, and that the poor people were to be landed without the slightest preparation having been made for their reception. Under the circumstances, rations from the Government stores were distributed to keep them from starving, and a lodging also was accorded to them in the emigration depôt; but at the same time Governor Fitz Roy sent home an account of the transaction, in which he characterised it as "a gross fraud attempted to be practised on the Colonial Government." After these disappointments in his schemes Dr. Lang, it will be remembered, quitted England in November last, leaving behind him a letter for publication in the newspapers full of the wildest charges about the discourtesy he had received (although there is no evidence of anything but patient toleration of his evasive and impracticable importunities), coupled with incoherent and wholly unfounded statements of encouragement given to the emigration of Romish priests and Papists in general, and terminating with a plain announcement that he was returning with a view to avenge the mortifications he had experienced by agitating for an immediate severance from the mother country and for the election of a "President of the United States of Australia." In the face of these things, and of the fact of his well-known want of mercantile precision, which seems from the present account to have ended in his being imprisoned for what the Melbourne papers term "some matter of debt," it is considered probable by parties acquainted with the state of feeling in the colonies that even if separation were desired, the leadership of Dr. Lang would, in many quarters, be likely rather to retard than to advance it—an inference which is also warranted by the singular bitterness of his sectarian animosities. The most interesting statements, however, in connexion with the affair, and such as will throw most light on its progress, will be those which we may receive from Sydney, where, from his former position, his influence will be best tested.—Times, September 3.

THE RECORDERSHIP.—The growth of the Recorder's salary is not uninteresting:—In 1789 it was only £120 a year. In November of that year the aldermen elected Sir John Strange to the office, and the Common Council raised the annual salary to £400. In succeeding years, during the recorderships of Strange, Eyre, Glynne, Adair, and Rowe, we find the Court of Common Council modifying the proposals of the Court of Aldermen; and in 1803 the salary was fixed at £1000 a year. In 1805 it was again increased to £1500, and in 1811 to £2500. On the 24th of November, 1822, the court agreed to continue that salary to Recorder Knowles, "during pleasure." On the appointment of the Hon. C. E. Law, in 1834, the same amount was continued, and, in 1837, on the recommendation of a committee on the administration of justice in the city, it was further augmented to £3000 a year.

HYDRO-CARBON GAS.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

GENTLEMEN,—In reply to one of the paragraphs in the advertisement of the Gas Company, signed by Mr. R. Mansfield, and dated the 18th instant, in which it is stated that the Gas Works at Southport had not been in operation, at the date of the latest advices, a complete half year,—I beg you will insert the following article, taken from the Macclesfield Courier and Herald, of the 24th of August last, by which it will be seen that the town of Southport had been lighted for nine months through its whole extent, and that the Editor of the Liverpool Mercury had recently visited that beautiful watering place, when he fully examined the whole process of the manufacture of Mr. White's gas.

I remain, Gentlemen,
Your most obedient servant,
ADAM WILSON.

Charlotte-place, December 30.

IMPROVEMENTS IN GAS MANUFACTURE.—The subject of pure and cheap gas has of late been often brought under the notice of our readers, together with the means of improving and cheapening so important an accessory to domestic and social comfort. Perhaps there is no town in the kingdom more highly favoured than Liverpool is with excellent gas, made from the best coal, and which, we believe, continues to give general satisfaction. Until very recently, gas from any other material than coal was scarcely ever contemplated. The question was now and then mooted by timid philosophers, how long our black diamond mines would last with the extraordinary demand now made upon them by steam navigation, railways, &c., and predictions were freely hazarded that, within a few generations, this grand source of Britain's greatness would be found passing away for ever. With these fears and apprehensions we had no sympathy, being satisfied that there is a storehouse of coal in these islands sufficient for our wants, even for thousands of years. But it is delightful to find that science is ever on the alert to widen the field of supply for every necessary, as well as for every luxury, of life; and, on this very article of gas, our own immediate neighbourhood furnishes an illustration of the truth of this remark, as gratifying as it is important. We refer to the town of Southport, one of the most delightful watering places in the kingdom, having been now for nine months past splendidly lighted up, through the whole of its extent, by Mr. White's patent hydro-carbon gas, made from resin or tar, and water, no coal being used except to heat the retorts. We had recently an opportunity of fully examining into the whole process of manufacturing this gas at Southport, and of carefully observing it in the street, and the pleasure it afforded us to find a gas of surpassing brilliancy and purity, and so entirely free from smoke, that the ceilings of the shops and houses were untarnished by it, produced so easily. Though superior to that from coal, it is produced at a much less price—perhaps at about one-half; and, there being a large meter in the gas house, we had ocular demonstration that the rapidity of production is about thrice as fast as from coal retorts of a similar size, while the labour of attending to the whole is not one-half. Statements so much at variance with past experience may scarcely obtain credence; but an hour's ride from our Exchange will enable any one to see and judge for himself. That a vast improvement has been achieved in gas manufacture—the precursor, it may be, of still greater—is unquestionable; and for this Mr. Stephen White has amply merited the rich reward he is so sure to obtain. Our spirited neighbour, Mr. Goulborn, has had this gas in full operation at Egremont Ferry, as well as at the large hotel and adjacent buildings there, for more than two months past, and expresses himself in the highest terms regarding it. His apparatus is in daily operation at Egremont. We learn that its adoption is spreading rapidly around Manchester, where it is exciting the greatest interest, and that several large continental cities are now in treaty for it. Its future progress deserves to be watched with much interest. 12111

At his Mart,
On TUESDAY, 7th January, at 11 o'clock precisely,
IN ONE LOT, CONTAINING 14 ACRES AND 20 PERCHES OF LAND; OR IN TWENTY LOTS OF 113 PERCHES EACH, AS MAY SUIT THE WISH OF THE COMPANY.

☞ THIS truly desirable Property is situated at a convenient distance in the environs of the city, on the Emmore Road, containing in all 14 acres and 20 perches of excellent land, and admitting from its magnitude of being subdivided into 20 Allotments, each to contain 113 perches, and each to have a frontage of 66 feet, by a depth of about 492 feet.

More desirable sites for the erection of dwellings are not to be had in the vicinity of Sydney, and allotments of such liberal dimensions as these are now rarely offered for sale. Altogether they offer to the speculator in land or building an excellent opportunity of realising a handsome return for his outlay.

The above land lies between Jones's and Fotheringham's properties, at about a mile distant from the line of road on which the Newtown Omnibus travels, and is not more than four miles from Sydney.

☞ A Plan on view at the Mart.

A very liberal credit will be given, the particulars of which will be made known at sale. 11167

THE CELEBRATED IRON SCHOONER
"FLASH,"

Well known as unrivalled in beauty, speed, and accommodation, by any vessel yet seen in this port.

MR. GEORGE A. LLOYD
Has been favoured with instructions from CAPTAIN BANES to sell by auction, at the City Mart, 474, George-street,
On TUESDAY, the 14th January, 1851,
At 12 o'clock,

THE fine fast-sailing IRON SCHOONER "FLASH,"
Register 139 tons, new measurement; burthen 230 tons, with all spars, sails, boats, brass guns, and other equipments, as per inventory.

This magnificent schooner was constructed at Newcastle-on-Tyne under very able superintendence, as a yacht, for the EMPEROR OF RUSSIA. She is a beautiful model, and is built on a new scale. Her dimensions are 103 feet between perpendiculars, 28 feet keel, 25 feet 9 inches beam, and depth of hold 11 feet 7 inches. She is fitted up with three compartments divided by water tight bulkheads, similar to those on board the Hunter River steamers. Her inventory of stores is equal if not superior to one of her Majesty's ships; and her passages are the best proof of her excellent sailing qualities.

Many instances can be adduced where she has made the most remarkable passages on record. She has been competed with by the yachts of the Commander of Malta, and other first-class vessels, with the invariable result of far outstripping them, whether in running or beating: she has been worked a distance of 2000 miles without any ballast, affording a pretty good proof of her stiffness under canvas; and on another occasion she BEAT ROUND CAPE HORN IN THE DEPTH OF WINTER, with her boats in the waist, and reached Valparaiso without receiving the smallest damage, being the only instance, out of 164 vessels then in that port, of working through the tremendous storms then prevalent, uninjured.

The owner's particular wish is that any party desirous of purchasing will come and inspect the vessel, by which alone they can form any adequate idea of her value. Every assistance will be furnished on board to afford as complete an overhaul as possible; and the more fully to aid this she will neither be painted or cleaned up, although returned from a long voyage.

The inventory is in course of preparation, as also a list of the private property, such as plate, pianoforte, couches, and other articles, which can be taken at a valuation.
Terms, liberal. 12072

WATERVIEW BAY, BALMAIN.

IMPORTANT SALE
Of an Extensive Plot of Ground, beautifully situated, fronting the waters of Waterview Bay forming most beautiful Villa Allotments, subdivided as per plan.

The great difficulty now experienced in obtaining anything like an eligible site for building in the neighbourhood of Balmain, (from the fact of nearly all the property being in the hands of parties not disposed to sell,) renders it incumbent upon the Auctioneer to direct particular attention to the Valuable Plot of Ground (carefully divided) now thrown open to public competition.

BY ORDER OF THE MORTGAGEE.

MR. GEORGE A. LLOYD
Has the pleasure of announcing to the public that he has received instructions from the Mortgagee, to submit for unreserved sale by public competition, at the City Mart, 474, George-street,
On WEDNESDAY, January 22, 1851,
At 12 o'clock.

THAT EXTENSIVE PORTION OF LAND, situate at WATERVIEW BAY, BALMAIN, bounded on one side by the Strathean Estate, extending up William street from the Bay to the main road, thereby commanding very extensive frontage, with easy access.

The property is surrounded by a numerous and respectable neighbourhood, daily increasing in wealth and importance.

As parties unacquainted with the spot may inspect for themselves with so very little trouble, the Auctioneer considers it unnecessary to enter into any description of the many inducements offered for purchasing, comprising a view unsurpassed of the North Shore, Sydney, South Head, and the surrounding country, the benefit of a sea-side residence within ten minutes ride of the town, an admirable aspect, stone for building close at hand, and the land itself capable of growing anything; in short, a visit to the property is all that the Auctioneer asks to ensure spirited competition.

Every other information required may be obtained upon application at the Rooms, 474, George-street.

In bringing this very valuable property before the public, the Auctioneer considers that the mere mention of the fact of the intended sale, with time and place, would be quite sufficient to ensure a ready offer, from its being so well known to all parties acquainted with the country. But there being many capitalists on the lookout for eligible investments who may not be acquainted with this property, he considers it advisable to give an outline of the particulars, for their information.
